NOTICE OF JURISDICTIONAL OBJECTION,
ECCLESIASTICAL AND TRUST STANDING,
PRESERVATION OF RIGHTS, AND NOTICE OF VOID PROCEEDINGS PENDING APPEAL

Comes now the undersigned, appearing specially and not generally, without consent, waiver, or submission to jurisdiction, and hereby gives formal notice as follows:

The undersigned expressly objects to the jurisdiction of this court in its entirety. Jurisdiction is disputed, withheld, and denied. No consent is given to the exercise of authority by this tribunal. No rights, remedies, defenses, immunities, or objections are waived, whether known or unknown, asserted now or reserved.

Notice is given that the undersigned appears and stands in ecclesiastical capacity and in trust, exercising lawful standing derived from ecclesiastical law, equity, and trust law, which predates and is not derived from civil or statutory jurisdiction. Said standing is not subject to presumption, conversion, or administrative reclassification by this court. Any attempt to compel participation, pleadings, or compliance absent lawful jurisdiction constitutes action outside authority.

Notice is further given that this matter is subject to pending superior jurisdiction, including appeal and removal to a court of competent and superior authority. Upon the filing or service of a notice of appeal or removal, this court is divested of jurisdiction except for ministerial acts. Any substantive action taken while jurisdiction is disputed and vested in a superior forum is void ab initio and without lawful force or effect.

The undersigned places this court, its officers, clerks, agents, and any acting parties on formal notice that continuation of proceedings, issuance of orders, enforcement actions, or coercive measures while jurisdiction is challenged and preserved constitutes action taken ultra vires, in excess of authority, and is preserved as reversible error, jurisdictional defect, and personal exposure for purposes of appellate, supervisory, and collateral review.

This notice is not a motion, plea, appearance, or request for relief. It is a jurisdictional objection and preservation of rights only. Silence, non-participation, or refusal to engage in proceedings under disputed jurisdiction shall not be construed as consent, waiver, acquiescence, or estoppel.

All rights are expressly reserved without prejudice, including the right to seek immediate relief by appeal, prohibition, mandamus, injunction, dismissal, sanctions, or other appropriate remedies in any superior court or competent forum, domestic or international, as applicable.

This notice is effective upon filing and service and relates back nunc pro tunc to the first assertion of jurisdictional challenge in this matter.

Respectfully submitted without prejudice and under protest,
